Built-In Refrigeration

Jenn-Air's Built-In Refrigeration training program is IIDA, ASID, and AIA accredited. Earn Continuing Education Units (CEU) while learning about the evolution of built-in refrigeration into today's kitchens from the technological leader in kitchen performance and design.

AIA members can earn 1.0 units and IIDA & ASID members can earn 0.1 units during this insightful and concise presentation that covers all aspects of built-in refrigeration needed to properly guide your projects, as well as, your clients. Topics include: History and evolution from free standing units, aesthetic options for built-ins, requirements of custom panels, and planning and installation considerations for successful installation of built-in refrigeration in a design.

Architects, designers, and contractors are welcome to attend.
